

Acts 18:18-28
Gospel Laborers

Introduction:

Abraham Lincoln is said to have asked someone, “If you call the tail of a dog a leg, how many legs does a dog have? Five, of course the man replied. No, said Lincoln as he chuckled, “It still has four legs; calling the tail of a dog a leg doesn’t make it one.”

It’s not enough to be called a Christian; you must actually be a Christian. There’s no such thing as a non-practicing Christian. You need more than a name, a name is not enough.

(Jam. 1:14) Some have said Apollos was Christian, no doubt because he was a gifted man, a greater communicator, mighty in the Scriptures, a scholar of the Old Testament Scriptures fervent in Spirit.
